The Philosophy Of Chiropractic

Chiropractic focuses on the integrity of the spine and its surrounding tissues as a means to enhance normal human function and health. There are two basic philosophies of chiropractic: The body naturally seeks the proper balance among all its systems, which are meant to work together.

What Is the Philosophy of Chiropractic? | Taking Charge of ...

A common denominator of "straight" chiropractic is the usage of subluxation [52]. At the risk of oversimplification, chiropractors can be viewed as falling into three groups based on their usage of evidence, diagnosis, and philosophy: evidence based chiropractors, traditional straight chiropractors, and super straight chiropractors.

The Philosophy of Chiropractic | Quackwatch

Chiropractic philosophy assumes that if there is a reduction, excess or some other alteration to the normal communications between the brain through the nervous system to these organs and tissues then there will potentially be a situation where those tissues or organs may not function properly.

The Philosophy and Origin of Chiropractic Care

Chiropractic philosophy includes the following perspectives: Holism assumes that health is affected by everything in an individual's environment; some sources also include a spiritual or existential dimension. In contrast, reductionism in chiropractic reduces causes and cures of health problems to a single factor, vertebral subluxation.

Chiropractic - Wikipedia

Traditional chiropractic philosophy, however, has often been of the unquestioning variety, unable to trigger changes in practice or procedures, nor in the philosophy itself. Hence, this approach limited truths applied to practice, since it incorporated research findings only if they were convenient to the original Palmerian philosophy, or some close variation.

CHIROPRACTIC PHILOSOPHY

Chiropractic philosophy blends an effective combination of conviction, critical thinking, open-mindedness, and appreciation of the natural order of things. Chiropractic focuses on the establishment and maintenance of a relationship between patients and their environment which is most conducive to functional well-being.

Philosophy of Chiropractic: Its Origin and Its Future ...

Chiropractic and its philosophy reflect the worldviews of the modern era. Chiropractic's founder, DD Palmer (1845-1913), was a modern man, with a modern sense of self, which is most evident in his writings.<sup>1</sup> Palmer's definition of Innate Intelligence (II) is the best example of this modern foundation. Within the definition of II is a separation of body (matter), mind (educated intelligence ...
